General

The AC hotline phone registered 23 calls this month of May 2018 with a total of 13 complaints. 08 complaints on corruption and corruption related offenses and 5 non corruption related offenses.

AC volunteers made several investigative field missions following complaints gathered from the field and calls received through the hotline phones.

Two (02) new complaint files opened this month.

A new case file on bribery and extortion was opened this month. The complainant reported that an employee of the Yaounde 13th Divisional Tax Center at Ekounou had solicited 250,000 FCFA from him as bribe before he could be allowed to operate his boutique. He had already paid an advance of 50,000 F CFA and only called AC when he had to go pay the remaining 200,000 F CFA. AC was unable to investigate this claim further because the victim bailed out on AC after the first informative visit to the tax office where the payment was supposed to take place failed due to the offender's absence. AC intends to intensify field work at the Ekounou market area and surrounding in order to recruit more victims with similar complaints.

Another case on corruption was opened this month. The complainant reported a worker with the Litigation service at the prime ministry for acts involving corruption and false pretense. According to him, the offender told him that he had the power to influence the employment outcome during the mass recruitment program of recruiting 25,000 youths into the civil service by the government as follow-up to the first phase because they were unable to get all the required candidates and will facilitate the recruitment of his children if he is given money. Believing these false facts, he then paid 300,000 F CFA for the recruitment for six members of his family; being 50,000 F CFA for each child but none have been recruited since 2014. Investigations are ongoing.

The distribution of brochures and pasting of posters continued to be the major activity carried out this month in a bid to recruit more victims of corruption. 150 Posters were pasted and 200 brochures distributed in corruption hotspots like the Mfoundi market and surrounding and Essos market and surrounding.

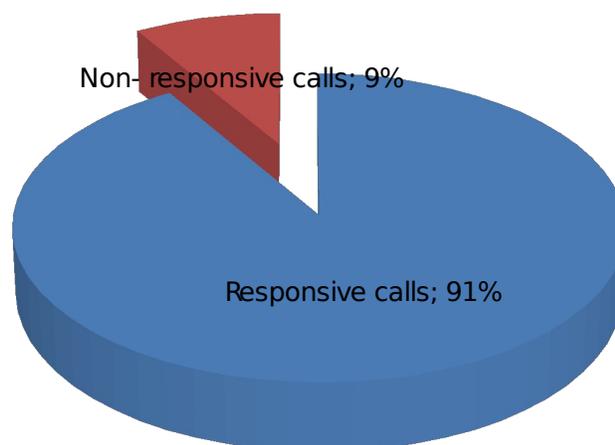

Case follow-up continued this month as in the previous month of April continued on the corruption case involving many counts with about three hundred victims deposited at the court of First Instance in the month of August 2017. The lawyer, on the request of the president of the Court of Appeal, had also seized the services of the attorney general at the Court of Appeal in January 2018 with two copies of the case file as the competent service that has to transmit the case file to the president of the Appellate Court for the designation of the competent court and judge to hear the matter.

Investigations

Investigations were carried out on a new complaint file opened this month on bribery and extortion. AC volunteer went down to the field to investigate and determine corruption in a transaction that will have been a flagrante delicto corruption case if the transaction had pushed through. According to the complainant, he had just opened a commercial store in the Ekounou neighborhood and was in the process of regularizing his paperwork. A worker at the Yaounde 13th Divisional Tax Center at Ekounou who knew he had not yet declared his global tax returns for the business used the opportunity to extort money from him. He tried to explain to the offender that he has 15 days according to the tax policy to declare his tax returns and still had eight days to do so but the offender threatened that if he did not bring the 250,000 FCFA solicited, he will make sure his store is closed down.

The victim had already paid an advance of 50,000 F CFA of the 250,000 FCFA solicited when he called AC and was on his way to pay the outstanding 200,000 F CFA. The solicitor was not in the office during the proposed transaction time as he was on the field for other duties. The victim was advised to call the offender and reschedule the meeting for the next day and inform AC on time but the victim did not pick up calls when contacted by AC. This made it difficult for AC to investigate this complaint further because the victim bailed out on AC. AC is sure the victim decided to pay the amount solicited so as to operate his business without threats from the tax workers, and maybe in illegality. Nevertheless, AC intends to intensify field work at the Ekounou market area in order to recruit more victims with similar complaints.

Investigations were also carried out on a new complaint case on corruption opened this month. The complainant reported a worker with the Litigation service at the prime ministry for acts involving corruption and false pretense. According to him, the offender told him that he had the power to influence the employment outcome during the mass recruitment program of recruiting 25,000 youths into the civil service by the government as follow-up to the first phase because they were unable to get all the required candidates and will facilitate the recruitment of his children if he is given money. Believing these false facts, he then paid 300,000 F CFA for the recruitment for six members of his family; being 50,000 F CFA for each child but none have been recruited since 2014. Investigations are ongoing.
