The victims of corruption presented their complaints to AC by underlining that the principals of two high schools extorted money from parents. A part of the school fees is paid without establishment of receipt from these two high schools. A.C made 4 working sessions with the pupil's parents. Their determination to prosecute those concerned having been justified, A.C engaged a Bailiff for the report of the facts. The Report resulted into a total failure because of the incompetence of the bailiff. The next day all the evidence of corruption disappeared. The process of registration became complex because it was difficult to notice the aforementioned facts of extortion.
